The Fabric of E-Citizenship

To counter Hate speech online!

This project will tackle this issue through different kinds of activities organised all along the year in sensitive suburbs. Our first step of 2016 have just started! The two first workshops have been a real success: 10 young people from 18 to 30 came and showed great interest and motivation. They exchanged a lot about their own experience of hate speech and many of them realised that they have been unintentionally actors of hate speech.

Laughter do have limits as long as it can harm somebody else. We are not aware of how much somebody can suffer on the other side of the screen so we have to be respectful.

These are the conclusions they arrive at the end of the activities. One small step for these young people, one giant leap for the No Hate Speech!

The European Youth Foundation posted an article about it on their Facebook page. Check it out! 😊

If you want to support this Fabric or know people who would like to, we have created a page on Global Giving. You will also find a general introduction of the whole project. 😊 -> Click here!

Social Start Ups

This project, whose aim is to support social start ups, is led by TAMAT in collaboration with the Universities of East Anglia (Norwich) and Plymouth, 3A-PTA, the Municipality of Brtonigla (Croatia) and the AMSED.

A series of training is planned to support people in their development of a social start up. The first one took place last week in the premises of the AMSED. 20 persons came to follow it so this project have a bright future!

What is a social enterprise?

It is a business whose main purpose is social or environmental and whose profits are mainly reinvested to achieve this aim. It is not driven by the need to maximise profit for shareholders and owners.

Breaking boundaries through dance: social and professional inclusion of youth

Following the projet of last summer "Dancers without Borders", this new training has been submitted by our partner in Sweden and approved by the Swedish National Agency. Designed for youth workers and young people from Estonia, Moldova, Morocco, Palestine, Turkey, Ukraine and France, it aims to help young people with fewer opportunities to use art (mainly dance) to fight discrimination, to enter the labour market and to increase social cohesion. If you are interested to participate, please send an email to: ninna.oom@gmail.com.

Date: 11th-21st August 2016
Place: Stockholm, Sweden
